NAGEL SUBMITS ANNUAL REPORT

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Upholds Sherman Law

TALKS TRUST CONTROL

SAYS NEXT STEP IN HANDLING BIG COMBINATIONS WILL BE PERMANENT FEDERAL AGENCY.

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—"The mere breaking up of large combinations into a number of separate parts by no means meets the whole trust question," says Secretary Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor in his annual report, transmitted today to President Taft.

Secretary Nagel declares that the Sherman law has been proved to be an effective statute beyond all doubt and that a degree of combination of capital is quite necessary, but he adds that the Supreme Court decisions in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases have demonstrated that the next step in the control of great industrial corporations will be the creation of a permanent federal agency.

How much control shall be exercised, whether by commission, federal incorporation or other means, which have been advocated recently by Judge Elbert H. Gary, George W. Perkins and other financiers before the Senate committee which has been conducting hearings to determine what changes would be desirable in the anti-trust laws, Secretary Nagel does not definitely say. He favors, however, a development of the powers and scope of the Bureau of Corporations.

"A certain degree of combination of capital is admittedly essential to the carrying on of our great business enterprises," says Secretary Nagel. "To control properly such necessary combinations we must have some administrative federal office or commission which shall make this work its business."

"We must have a permanent authority which shall by steady and continuous supervision and publicity safeguard the public interests and at the same time allow full scope for necessary and proper business efficiency and development."

"The decisions of the Supreme Court in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco Company cases have brought forcibly to the public attention a fact repeatedly presented in the reports of this department—the imperative need for the positive administrative regulation of great industrial corporations."

"The recent decisions and reorganizations which followed have made it clear that another imperative step remains to be taken and that this is the establishment, by appropriate legislation, of a broad system of supervision and publicity for all those industrial and commercial organizations engaged in interstate and international business."

"Whether this shall be done by means of federal incorporation or by a federal office or commission exercising powers of regulation and supervision may be a secondary question. The first consideration appears to be the establishment of permanent administrative publicity, regulation and supervision. Public opinion and the views of many corporation managers are as one."

Secretary Nagel recommends that the Bureau of Corporations be developed to take up the form of supervision he suggests. It would be but a logical expansion of the bureau's operations and policy, which he says, have relied solely on publicity for the last eight years and have demonstrated beyond question what a system of permanent supervision can do.

Mr. Nagel's report in full deals with the year's work in the many bureaus and divisions over which he presides.

In connection with the immigration service the secretary recommends that any amendments to the immigration laws tend to relieve immigrants of undue hardship without letting down the bars against undesirable. Larger discretion should be lodged with officials, he thinks, to admit unfortunate members of incoming families where it is shown that society would be protected against burden and danger. He recommends also that examinations of immigrants be made before they embark for this

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 2.—Governor Osborn today assumed charge of the meeting of progressive Republicans who gathered to hear Senator LaFollette, who failed to appear. Governor Osborn delivered the address which had been prepared to introduce LaFollette, causing an outburst of complaint from the audience, who objected to complimentary remarks of the governor with reference to LaFollette.

Governor Osborn declared that both Taft and LaFollette should withdraw from the race for the presidential nomination, and join in nominating former Senator Beveridge of Indiana or Theodore Roosevelt.

When Osborn said that LaFollette looked out for himself primarily, some one in the audience yelled that Osborn had no right to make such remarks in a hall rented by LaFollette supporters, whereupon Governor Osborn declared:

"What did you people expect when you asked me to preside? You know where I stood. I am more than glad to pay for the hall, if that makes any difference with you."

To Try Sensational Divorce Suit

When the young husband filed suit against his wife last summer it created the greatest stir that has occurred in Delaware in years. Mrs. Bancroft, who is only twenty-three years old, is a member of the du Pont family, the millionaire powder manufacturers.

In his suit the husband named Max Heibler of Munich, a friend of the couple, as co-respondent. He called the infant son of his wife, born last April, Max Heibler, Jr. He also made the child, which was born here, a co-defendant with the mother. He denied the paternity of the infant.

Subsequently the wife began counter suit for divorce on the same general grounds. She also alleges extreme cruelty.
